The Old Toll House at 1422 Washington Road is a late nineteenth century frame structure of a "pattern-book Victorian" design. It is T-shaped with a gable and main facade formed by the projecting section of the T. It contains period ornamentation in the porches with turned posts on both sides, the oriel window on the first story, and the shingled gable. The house is an excellent example of rural Victorian-style architecture in Carroll County.
